Burning the Chametz, Burning the Negativity

Dovid Kopel

I just had a beautiful experience burning the חמץ (leaven) with my kids. I told them that as we burn the חמץ, we can also think about burning away the negativity and the wrong choices we let into our lives.

Last night, we searched by candlelight — or flashlight — not just for חמץ, but as a reminder to search our own hearts too. We looked a little more honestly at our actions, our habits, and the kind of life we want to live.

We gathered the ten pieces of חמץ traditionally set aside for בדיקת חמץ, and it felt like a powerful reminder that even small things matter. This season is filled with beautiful opportunities for growth and elevation. Seize them!
